PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—News of the sinking at sea and the loss of a portion of the crew of the American bark William Hale by a collision on Nov. 8 during a dense fog with the Ward line steamship Niagara, outward bound with a general cargo and a number of passengers, was contained in a cablegram received here by the agents of the Niagara. It is dated Nassau, where Captain Combas, her master, Mate George W. Kimmetto and five of her crew had just been landed in the Niagara. Five of the crew were drowned, every effort to save them having failed.

The William Hale left here Aug. 23 for Havana to return with a general cargo of bones, and shipped at this port a crew of 12 men. The names of the saved could not be learned, although he said that the captain and mate were among those rescued. No details of the collision could be obtained.

HUMAN VAMPIRE

Strangles Cattle With His Naked Hands.

HIS WONDERFUL STRENGTH

Attempts to Capture Him in a Fatal
No One Knows Who the Madman Is. Telling Experience of a Dakota Cowboy.

PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 12.—The cattle men on the ranges west of Pierre tell a ghastly story of a madman, who for some time past has been roaming over the reservation, killing cattle with his naked hands to suck their blood, and in some cases even attacking men. No one seems to know who the man is, nor how long he has been wandering about the ranges. He was first seen some four or five weeks ago. Repeated attempts have been made to capture him, but thus far without success.

He is said to labor under the hallucination that he is a vampire. How he manages without a weapon of any kind to kill the cattle on which he lives is a mystery. When found after he has left them the animals appear to have been seized by the head, borne to the ground by main strength and torn to pieces by the teeth and nails of the lunatic.

Jack Lewis, a cowboy on one of the ranches about midway between Pierre and the Black Hills, is the hero of the most exciting adventure with the madman yet reported. It was nearly a fortnight ago that Lewis had been out for several days with a party on the range and about 6 o'clock in the evening he wandered away from his companions and dismounted for a few moments. As he stood by his horse he was suddenly struck from behind and hurled to the ground and nearly strangled by the maniac. He struggled furiously, but was unable to reach his weapon, while his assailant frothed at the mouth and made every effort to seize the cowboy by the throat with his teeth.

Such wonderful strength did he display that Lewis was nearly overpowered and doubtless would have been killed had not his friends, attracted by his cries, arrived in time to rescue him. The madman fled when he saw the reinforcements coming and although pursued by several men on fast horses he contrived to elude them in the dusk and made his escape. Lewis was quite badly torn about the face and neck by the man's teeth, and received a shock from which he has not yet fully recovered.

SOON FINISHED.

O'Donnell No Sort of Match
For Maher.

FIGHT LASTED ONE ROUND.

The Australian Knocked Down Three Times In Rapid Succession—Counted Out and Carried to His Corner.

MALDEN, L. J., Nov. 12.—Never since the opening of the Empire Athletic Club has its arena been so densely crowded as it was last night. As early as 7 o'clock there were hundreds of people outside of the clubhouse, including many representatives of the sporting element from Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago, drawn by the long promised mill between Peter Maher, the Irish champion, and Steve O'Donnell of Australia, who has been so long associated with Jim Corbett as the champion's sparring partner. In the betting, of which there was a good deal, Maher was the favorite at 2 to 1, while there were bets snapped up at 100 to 60 and 100 to 70 on the Irishman as soon as they were offered by those who were taking the O'Donnell end of it.

O'Donnell was the first to enter the ring. He was attended by Billy Delaney, his trainer, Jim McCabe and Benny Murphy. It was then 9:35 o'clock, and Maher followed a minute later. He was escorted by Peter Lowrey, Peter Burns and Buck Cornelius of Pittsburgh. Jack McAuliffe sat at the ringside right behind Maher and Billy Brady was close behind, watching everything. He did not have to wait long, as the men got together and Maher, quick as lightning, smashed his right on O'Donnell's jaw. O'Donnell fell like a log, but regained his feet as the referee counted seven. Maher gave him no quarter and floored the Australian with another blow on the jaw with his right. This time O'Donnell laid down for 3 seconds. The moment he got up Maher held him in the same corner and sent his left with sledgehammer force on the right jaw. O'Donnell fell flat on his back, and after being counted out had to be carried to his corner, while the referee announced Maher the winner. Time 63 seconds.

Men threw up their hats and yelled like demons. Many of them succeeded in getting into the ring and hugged Maher. Corbett jumped into the ring and pushed his way over to the victorious Irishman and grasped him by the hand and congratulated him. He said: "Maher, you have fought a good fight."

It was rumored that Corbett had presented Maher with the heavyweight championship, but this rumor was denied later.

The actual time that both men were on their feet was 57 seconds. The arena was not cleared for fully 30 minutes after the fight was over. O'Donnell's party had no excuse to offer for the Australian's poor showing.

The work of preparing for a show of this magnitude is enormous, when it is considered that 1,800 horses have to be provided for, half as many harness and groomers and a regular army of ring attendants, ushers, callers and special officers. Almost everybody takes some laxative medicine to cleanse the system and keep the food pure. Those who take SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR (liquid or powder) get all the benefits of a mild and pleasant laxative and tonic that purifies the blood and strengthens the whole system. And more than this: SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR regulates the liver, keeps it active and healthy, and when the liver is in good condition you find yourself free from malaria, biliousness, indigestion, sick-headache and constipation, and rid of that worn out and debilitated feeling. These are all caused by a sluggish liver. Good digestion and freedom from stomach troubles will only be had when the liver is properly at work. If troubled with any of these complaints, try SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR. The King of Liver Medicines, and Better than Pills.

FORTY YEARS OF SUFFERING FROM PILES. Remarkable Cure of Popular Major Dean, of Columbus, Ohio.

People who suffer from that annoying and obstinate disease will be satisfied to learn that science has discovered a safe, convenient and reliable cure for every form of piles, the experience of the popular Major Dean, of Columbus, Ohio, attests. The Major says: I would like to add my name to the thousands who have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure. I know from experience that it is the only remedy on earth that will effectively cure piles; plenty of remedies give relief for a time, but as for a lasting relief I had tried all the salves, lotions, etc., without success. Six boxes of the Pyramid Pile Cure completely removed all traces of a case which has stood for forty years standing. You may rest assured that the Pyramid Pile Cure has no stauncher advocate than myself. I feel that it is my duty to allow you to use my name in any way you see fit, in order that other sufferers may be directed to what I feel will be a speedy relief and cure. The Pyramid Pile Cure gives instant relief and a permanent cure in cases of blind, bleeding, itching piles. It is absolutely free from opiates, calomel and similar poisons, so common in pile cures. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.00. A book on cause and cure of Piles will be sent free by addressing the Pyramid Pile Cure Co., Albion, Mich.

U. V. U. Department Commander Ogden Issues His First Order. Department Commander of Ohio A. Ogden, of the U. V. U., issued the first general order for his re-election at the Clyde camp a short time ago. In the order he takes occasion to heartily thank his old comrades for their expression of esteem, and promises that the year 1895 will be the most useful to the welfare of the U. V. U. He states that each precinct command is entitled to one aide-de-camp from the staff of the department commander, and he requests that none but diligent and willing workers be recommended for appointment to the position. He also desires that wise judgment be exercised in the selection of officers for precinct commands, and especially for colonel, quartermaster and adjutant. General Ogden says that he is to be a work year and each precinct officer is expected to organize or re-organize the command during his term of office. No one will be appointed "for his health." Department Commander Ogden has retained his staff and quartermaster of last year.

OIL GOES UP AGAIN. Price in the Lima Field Advances Five Cents. The Effect of the Rise in the Eastern Field Felt in this Field this Morning. The advance in the price of oil in the eastern field yesterday caused the producers in the Lima field to expect a raise this morning and they were not disappointed, for it came on schedule time and was five cents per barrel increase. This is the third advance that has been made in the price of Lima oil within a week and it would not be a surprise to many if the price reached the dollar mark or better by the first of January or sooner. There has been a great deal of falling off in production since many of the large operators in the Ohio and Indiana field suspended operations a few months ago when the price of oil began to go down to a dangerously low figure, and there are a number of them who state they will not be tempted to resume drilling until the price nears the dollar mark. North Lima oil was advanced to 80 cents, South Lima to 75 cents, and Indiana to 70 cents. Tiona oil was quoted at $1.50 today; Pennsylvania, $1.40; Barnesville, $1.30; Corning $1.25 and Newcastle $1.15.

ROCKFORD OIL NEWS. The Manhattan Oil Co. has commenced to drill on the Peter Brubaker farm. The well on the Wm. Exline farm, 5 miles north of this place will be drilled in to-day. The Marks well, 3 miles west of town was drilled to the sand Thursday, and will be drilled in as soon as parties interested arrive. The Smith well, north of town, was drilled to the sand, Thursday evening, and will be completed in a day or so. The Manhattan Oil Company has completed their pipe line from Ohio City to the Boyer well, and will be laid to the Martin Smith well in Blackcreek tp., as soon as possible. This makes an assurance that the Manhattan is going to drill until their territory is fully developed, as there is nothing very promising yet been discovered except the Henderson well, which was shut in the slate. The Standard Oil Company has paid all rental north and west of the Cisco well, and will drill another well in that vicinity in the near future. —Rockford Press.

A GOOD GASSER. The Delphos Gas Company was lucky and was not in their new wells on the Book and Moorman farms in the gas field south of town. The Moorman well was drilled in Saturday and gave every evidence of being a first class gasser. It was aided by a heavy shot of nitro-glycerine and is now a good, dry gas well, the capacity of which cannot be estimated at present. The well on the Book farm, which is in gas territory, was finished Saturday and turned out an offer to the extent of 50 barrels a day. Alex. Shenk and W. F. Brittingham, members of the company, went up to the field this morning to see the well shot, which was done at noon, but with what results are unknown to us. The product of the Moorman well turned into the mains will greatly increase the pressure, and if the Book well continues an offer the company will continue its search for gas by putting down another well. —Delphos Herald.

ST. MARY'S FIELD. The Farmers' Drilling company's No. 1 Romshe farm, Logan township, Auglaize county, is a tank duster. Another duster is credited to the same company by the completion of the Columbus Oil company's No. 14 Butcher farm, Moulton township. The Ohio Oil company's No. 4 Baker farm, Logan township, is a salt water well. Same company's No. 6, Huffman farm, Noble township, is good for 30 barrels. The Troy Oil company finished a dry hole on the Dovel farm, Duchouquet township. Bettman, Watson & Co's No. 2 Williams farm, Logan township, is a duster.

OTONET FIELD. The Ohio Oil company's No. 4 Roy farm, Portage township, Wood county, does not show very encouraging for anything more than a light pumper. Same company's No. 2 Bushey farm, Bloom township, produces nothing but salt water. Same company's No. 9, Newcomer farm, same township, is another water producer. Same company has another water producer in No. 2, Bishop farm, same township. Beaverstock & Cupps' No. 3 Spacky farm, Portage township, is good for 10 barrels. Henning, Lee & Co's Sargent lot well, Bloom township, started at 100.

BLUFFTON FIELD. The Safety Oil company completed their well on the Dritzler farm, Orange township, Hancock county. It is good for about 20 barrels. C. C. Harris' well on the Miller farm, same township, is good for 30 barrels. GINSONBURG FIELD. Finch & Co's No. 2 Kille farm, Washington township, Sandusky county, is good for 10 barrels. Wolf & Co. finished a dry hole on the Saam farm, same township.

MURDERER MINOR Sends Word He Will Not be Taken Alive. Simon Minor has been heard from, indirectly. Mrs. Minor, who is at the jail, to-day received a letter from her daughter, Mrs. Moore, at Hartburg, Putnam county, saying that Simon had been there since Sheriff Ranney's visit, and had left the same evening, saying he was going to California, and would never be taken alive. Whether this is a ruse or not of the murderer is a question. —Kenton News.

DESTROYED BY FIRE. Mike Zimmerman's Barn Consumed Last Night. Last night the barn on Mike Zimmerman's lot on north West street, was totally destroyed by fire. A horse, cow and buggy were taken out soon after the fire was discovered but the building and feed was destroyed. The fire was started in the hay mow, it is thought, by tramps.

Baldwin, of Bluffton, Dr. Barr, and Dr. S. A. Baxter. The Board drove out to the Home and found Superintendent Frank Blair and wife were in the city, and in their absence made a thorough inspection of all the buildings and the children. Everything in the buildings was found in excellent condition, and the children clean, healthy and well cared for. The board is loud in its praise of the management of the home, and, other than a few remarks about the buildings, and some additional furniture purchased, have no report to make to Judge Rich except one full of commendation and praise for the excellent management of the Home and its inmates.

SHORT SESSION Of the City Council Held Last Evening. Public Square Tax Ordinance Read. Two Many Electric Light and Telephone Poles. The city council met in regular session last night, with President Harley in the chair and the following members present: Kiplinger, Allen, Snyder, Standish, Chapin, Van Ewan, McVey and Brotherton. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Alschul Bros. asked permission to put in weighing scales in front of their fruit house on east High street. Referred to street committee. The officers and members of the city fire departments petitioned the council to increase their salaries at a rate of $10 per month each. Referred to fire committee, to report in one week. The sidewalk committee recommended the acceptance of Henry Frueh's new sidewalk on north Union street. Report was adopted. The Light committee recommended that an electric light be placed in front of the south Main street Presbyterian church. Report was received and filed. Chief Haller reported 20 arrests for last week. An ordinance to assess a special tax on real estate abutting on the public square was given its second reading. Upon motion the clerk was instructed to secure money in the bridge fund and place it to the city's credit. Upon motion the engineer was instructed to set grade stakes at Ohio Southern crossing on east High street and to notify the railroad officials to construct grade at the crossing according to the engineer's stakes. Mr. Allen said that he thought a mistake had been made by the council a week ago when the ordinance was passed preparatory to opening Metcalf street through Faurot's park. Mr. Brotherton said the Electric Light, Street Railway and Telephone companies each had poles erected closely together in the northeast corner. He thought three poles were too many in the one small space and moved to have the street committee investigate the matter. The motion was carried. Upon motion by Mr. Snyder the clerk was instructed to notify the telephone companies to fill in around their poles. Upon motion the clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for the construction of the proposed west North street sewer. Mr. Brotherton said that a public alley in the Jameson's addition had been fenced in by some one. The street commissioner was instructed to have the fence removed. Upon motion council adjourned.

Wood, jr., who for some time had been stationed at Ft. Wayne, has been made assistant engineer of maintenance of way of the Cleveland and Pittsburg division, and his former position has been filled by W. O. Hazup, of Lawrence Junction, Pa. Another appointment was that of Louis Haas to the position of assistant engineer of maintenance of way of the P. Ft. W. & C., which position had been vacant since the appointment of C. S. Sims to the office of engineer in chief of the Toledo division. Mr. Haas comes from the Southwestern system. All these appointments are in line of promotion. Mr. Wood is a nephew of General Manager Joseph Wood.

TRANSACT BUT LITTLE BUSINESS. On account of the absence of Superintendent Bradley, of the Ann Arbor, and Superintendent Husted, of the C. H. & D., the work of the Central Association of Railway Officers at its regular meeting to-day was soon completed. Superintendent Husted was to read a paper, and several questions were to be before the meeting in which the Ann Arbor was interested. These could not be acted upon without the presence of Superintendent Bradley. — Toledo Blade.

Special Delivery. "Special Delivery" the New York and Boston success as a comedy drama with unusual deep human interest. The central figure is a Postman, and various details of "city nature" service are cleverly interwoven while the interest is sustained by an exceptionally good plot is maintained throughout. The author, David H. Scully, has evolved a play, bright, interesting, amusing and pure. The dialogue is terse and pointed. The situations are natural and the dramatic elements tending toward admirable act-endings is thrilling in the extreme. The theme is a good one and affords opportunity for the sort of sentiment that wins with most theatre-goers. Musical specialties are introduced without retarding the action. The scenery is said to be most picturesque and realistic, particularly "Old Harlem Bridge by moonlight" which opens and closes as river crafts pass through. Another picture true to life is the interior of the Mail Delivery Department in full operation in the New York Post Office.

"FRIENDS." An Established Favorite Coming Nov. 13.

Edwin Milton Royle's delightful comedy drama "Friends" which so pleased our theatre goers here twice before is announced for another production. It is certainly hard to please every taste in the matter of plays, but surely this has been done by the clever young author of "Friends," and this is all the more remarkable when it is considered that it was the first play ever penned by him. Yet "Friends" met with instant and permanent success, and though this season it is on its fourth year of uninterrupted prosperity, audiences seem to enjoy the brilliant comedy as much as its initial production. The plot unfolds such a beautiful story, and does not depend upon impossibilities to make it a success. It is a strictly legitimate drama, adhering only to life itself, with its scenes of pathos and humor well proportioned. Nearly all of the players who made such pronounced individual successes here before will again be seen in the roles they created.

Principles of Just Taxation. The rest of mankind will agree heartily with Hon. David A. Wells when he says, in The Popular Science Monthly, that nobody understands the principles which underlie a just system of taxation. If Mr. Wells, in the chapters he proposes to write for The Monthly, can throw any light on the subject, his fellow countrymen who see their taxes increasing from year to year like a snowball rolling down hill will be grateful indeed to him.

The writer calls attention to the fact that neither law, science nor even theology has ever made a study of taxation. He says: "If any sermon has ever been preached in this country by any clergyman of any denomination on the moral and religious results of a defective system of taxation, the writer has never heard of it." A distinguished member of the American bar declared to Mr. Wells not long since that the study of economic principles had no place in the legal profession. One would think so indeed from the course pursued by that profession in general. And yet to send to the United States senate a man who is an ignoramus in this matter certainly sometimes costs the people of our republic $20,000,000 a year. It is time somebody was trying to find the correct principles of taxation.

In the imposition of some of its taxes, notably the whisky law of 1864, and the late but not lamented income tax law, Mr. Wells declares that this government actually put a premium on fraud and lying and fined its truthful and straightforward citizens heavily. Worst of all, not even the highest institutions of learning in Europe and America give any proper instruction on this subject. They are so lamentably wanting that it is doubtful if it has occurred to many of their professors in political economy to consider whether there is any such thing as a system of correct taxation. Under the circumstances Mr. Wells' future chapters will be looked for with interest.

The mighty feminine mind is nowhere more resplendent than in the elaboration of cooking recipes. "Bake a duck 40 minutes," says the lady cooking teacher. If the clumsy masculine intellect were preparing the recipe, undoubtedly it would say bake 40 minutes in an oven heated to a given temperature. The lady teacher, however, with sublime faith in the nutritional faculty of the cook, says merely bake so long, whether the oven be red-hot or nearly cold. Evidently the culinary thermometer has not invaded the feminine thought, even in case of the new woman.

A capacity for losing his temper has made the failure of many a man in this world. Because a thing never has been done is no sign it never will be done—none at all.

CLARA BOWEN. She Loved Children, The Story of Her Own Life, and What She Learned from Them. The paper has been a record of death of Clara Bowen, late of Chicago, the writer for children, and her series of booklets have been a record of her life. She was a woman of a fine family and married to a prominent man, Morgan Bowen, a newspaper man and a writer of plays. For many years she lived in Chicago and had written for Wide Awake, St. Nicholas, Harper's Young People, The Youth's Companion and other periodicals for children. During the World's fair she had charge of that part of the authors' congress which was devoted to writers for children and also of the library of children's literature. She was not yet 50 years of age and was mentally never more vigorous than during the last year of her life, although her physical health was such that she could not set herself to the task of writing.

These facts seem common enough. But the woman herself was most uncommon. Her face had a ruggedness and homeliness that resembled that of Abraham Lincoln in its general character. Her heart was surely true, her imagination for the things of earth—children, flowers, birds and all the happy animals of the summer time. She loved to write poems concerning the beetles, the "red-legged humbees," the crickets. Such gay little poems "sang themselves," as she used to say, and her pleasure in writing them lay in fancying how the children would enjoy them. She never wrote at the children; she wrote from them. She could be one of them, and she looked at the world from their point of view when she wrote for them. In fact, in spite of her very well stored mind and her experience, she was singularly like a child in her simplicity and candor. True, she had the tact of a woman of fine social training, but it was the tact that came from kindness and not from convention. For children she entertained a love which was profound. She turned upon them such a loving scrutiny that she saw in them possibilities and charms which even those who knew them best had failed to discover. Nothing amused her more than the unconscious witticism of a little child, and she remembered them much better than did the mothers of the children and would repeat them with affectionate zest.

Her whole life was one of exquisite refinement. No one could talk with her without being conscious of a delicate elevation of sentiment. One involuntarily selected the most beautiful subjects with which one was acquainted in talking to her. Her life was full of the happiness that comes to a woman who is perfectly mated, and who gives her husband unflinching love, respect, and return, the utmost consideration, appreciation and devotion. But for all of that she was in some ways a sad woman—that is to say, she was sad because her sensibilities were so keen. The war of the world roared in on her and disturbed her peace. The sorrows of others rested on her spirit. Her hunger for a child of her own was never appeased. And having a delight in nature, a love for home—home meaning to her the clime and birds as well as the walls and furnishings—she was destined to live in the dirtiest and most material city on this continent, in apartments, surrounded by nomads of the sort which give the boarding house an excuse for being. Yet, however barred the street on which her window looked, however bustling the fashionable apartment house in which she lived, in her rooms there were always quiet, peace and an air of indescribable placidity. Flowers bloomed in her windows, pictures of little children hung on her walls, fresh flowers, the gifts of friends, were at hand, and, by her side, as she sewed, was a block of paper, on which the "songs sang themselves."

Though a woman of the simplest tastes, she dressed richly, for she had an idea that, being so tall and gaunt, she looked well only in rich fabrics. As she was swarthy she usually chose rich wine tints, and the colors came to be characteristic of her. Nothing could be more charming than when walking among the selfish and nervous crowd of the Chicago streets to come across this strong and serene face, with the deep eyes beaming with spirituality and kindness. Never a street so crowded that she could not see the children and smile upon them; never a day so dismal that she would not pause before the florist's window, never a time so dull that her spirit could no sing. It is impossible to make those who did not know her understand how strong and simple, how lofty and sincere, she was. Hans Christian Andersen must have been similar.—Ella W. Feattie in Omaha World-Herald.

THE CLUB CAR ON THE ARISTOCRAT.

Special Grades on Suburban Trains—The Commuter Fails on Some Airs.

Social grades are distinctly recognized among suburban railway passengers. The club car man is the aristocrat. A colored porter attends to his wants and to those of his fellow clubmen. A man entering the railway station to take the afternoon train to his home may appear like other passengers and may bear the full complement of bundles incident to existence in the suburbs. As he approaches the waiting train a sharp eyed colored man, who is on the lookout, sees him at a distance. He rushes up to the traveler, takes his bundles obsequiously, and, bowing and scraping, ushers him into the club car. Here he is sure of finding a seat, and he and his fellow aristocrats throw off their coats, take seats in wicker chairs and lean back to smoke and read their papers or take part in games of cards. The club car man belongs to a social organization governed like any other club, which hires a special car from the company for the use of its members. The car is attached to a certain morning and evening train, and only the members are allowed to enter it.

Next in social importance among the suburban passengers is the business man who has been a commuter for many years and who has known the conductor ever since he was a brakeman. He is recognized as a man of property and is possibly a stockholder in the road. He bows even to the conductor with an air of condescension and issues orders to the brakeman as to the opening and closing of windows and doors or the raising and lowering of the lights.
He generally manages to secure a whole seat for himself unless some friend enters the car with him.

The smoking car commuter forms another class. He also is on familiar terms with the conductor, but in a different way. He does not take liberties with him, but greets him each morning. With the smoking car brakeman he is on the closest terms of friendship, calling him by his first name and inquiring as to his health and that of all the other employees in the suburban service.
The smoking car commuter is of course an inveterate card player. He is usually either a clerk or young business man, but sometimes elderly men are not graduated into the aristocratic classes, but remain all their lives frequenters of the smoking car and devotees of the card table on the trains.

What the club car man is to the ordinary commuter the commuter is to the occasional passenger. The commuter, even if he has not had long experience, enjoys the distinction which a monthly ticket gives to him over the bearer of a single trip ticket. He presents his book or commutation ticket with a careless air, and the conductor, recognizing his face, gives only a hasty glance at his ticket. He remains engrossed in his newspaper while the train is passing through the open country, yet views with resignation the approach of the tunnel which impels him to lay it down. He looks with disfavor on the unaccustomed traveler who raises a window on the dullest day and who takes an interest in the scenery along the route.

The occasional passenger—just the holder of an ordinary trip ticket—is so far down in the social scale in the crowded morning and afternoon trains that he sometimes wonders that he is allowed to exist at all. He looks about with distrust, and if he has a seat beside a commuter he hurriedly produces his ticket as the conductor approaches and conceals it in his hand in a shamefaced way until he can pass it to the conductor.
If he is a sensitive man, he is afraid to touch the window until he finds whether the commuters raise the other windows or allow them to remain closed. If the window beside him is open, he may wonder at one part of the route to see other passengers closing the windows, and it is not until he enters the tunnel that he realizes that he has shown his ignorance by failing to recognize the scenery near the entrance to the tunnel, which has warned the commuters that the outside air must be excluded. This and a few other exhibitions of his lack of familiarity with travel on the road put him in a condition of proper humility, and he is ready before the end of his short journey to recognize his true position among suburban travelers.

Adhesive Postage Stamps.

Adhesive postage stamps were first used experimentally by James Chalmers in Dundee, August, 1834.
In 1837, Feb. 13, they were introduced into the English postal department by Rowland Hill. They were introduced in the United States in 1845, but their use was not authorized by congress until March 3, 1847. On the 1st of June, 1856, prepayment was made compulsory in the United States. Prepayment was made compulsory in other parts of the world at various times from 1837 to 1887.

Child's Play

—washing with Pearline.
Everything that makes it hard work is taken away.

Everything that makes it hard the wear and tear, too—there's no rub, rub, rubbing about it.
It's absolutely safe. Remember that, if you've had your clothes eaten, frayed or ruined by cheap imitations, Pearline is as cheap as anything can be that is safe. It costs no more at the start than common soap—and it saves money from the minute you start with it.

Beware
Pettlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you some thing in place of Pearline, do the honest thing—send it back. —JAMES PVLE, New York

Indian Walkers.

All travelers in South America are impressed by the wonderful endurance of the Indian couriers of Peru and Bolivia. A Frenchman declares that they filled him with admiration.
The manner in which they journey over the cordilleras on foot he pronounces astonishing.

They climb and descend at the same pace. They speak rarely, scarcely ever complain and never stop. If the traveler halts for a moment to light a cigar, they are at once some hundreds of feet in advance.

The gait is slow, but without relaxation. That is what makes them such incomparable couriers.

Often when a man has a journey of several days to make he takes his wife along. She bears her baby upon her back, and the dog follows.
The husband carries the provisions.
And this is how they travel:

The Indian chews coca and spins cotton. The wife spins to the baby and spins also. They eat without halting and make but the shortest stop to drink. Toward night, "to comfort themselves," they chew some "roasted beans." I was escorted by an Indian and his family who traveled after this fashion.

HOW TO PREVENT CROUP.

SOME READING THAT WILL PROVE INTERESTING TO YOUNG MOTHERS.
HOW TO GUARD AGAINST THE DIS-EASE.

Croup is a terror to young mothers and to post them concerning the cause, first symptoms and treatment is the object of this item. The origin of croup is a common cold.
Children who are subject to it take cold very easily and croup is almost sure to follow. The first symptom is hoarseness; this is soon followed by a peculiar rough cough, which is easily recognized and will never be forgotten by one who has heard it. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given all tendency to croup will soon disappear.
Even after the croupy cough has developed it will prevent the attack.
There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains nothing injurious. For sale by Melville Bros.,

A Chinese Delicacy.

The milhi, as it is called, is a dainty dish held in the highest estimation by the Celestial gourmands.
It is composed of newly born mice, still blind, which are served alive to each guest, who dips them into a vessel filled with honey and slowly swallows them one by one. At the wedding feast of the present emperor of China no fewer than 50,000 of these little creatures were brought on the table.—Illustrirte Zeitzung.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

POWER OF FLIGHT IN BIRDS.

The Graceful Swallow, the Swift Moving Humming Bird and Others.

How wonderful and beautiful is the power of flight, and yet from the smallest insect that is tossed about by the gentle summer breeze to the great golden eagle that is capable of carrying a young lamb to his eyrie all are masters of the art.

A large portion of the living animal world has wings and can use them. When watching a swallow's infinite power upon the wing, one feels like rephrasing the story of Richard III, "My kingdom for a horse," to "My kingdom for a pair of wings."

Perhaps among our most common birds the swallows are the most graceful and skillful of flight. Before a rain along our country roads the barn and white bellied swallows are always to be seen cutting the air in graceful curves, now skimming the roads, now rising abruptly to soar over the stone wall and float out across some neighboring meadow.

They love the sea also and wing their way over its surface with marvelous skill.

The chimney swift surpasses in the power of endurance even the swallows. Uncanny birds they are, far more like bats. Their flight is not as graceful as the swallow's, but in a way more erratic. They rest only in the chimneys or hollow trees, even gathering the twigs for the construction of their nests while on the wing. Their food also is taken when on flight—in fact, the chimney swift's life is spent in the heavens. "Perpetual motion" must be their motto, for but a few moments out of each 24 hours are spent at rest in the chimney's sooty depths.

The opposite of the swallow's and the swift's flight, one might say, is that of the kingbird. Jerky, spasmodic, ungainly as it is in the extreme, and yet powerful, for the kingbird among crows certainly deserves his name. As all true tyrants he is an expert fly catcher and is very dexterous and often absurd in pursuit, tumbling over himself in his hurry to catch some dainty insect.

When a robin crosses the sky so one can really see his flight, he is one of the few birds that look as if they really were going somewhere.
Direct, even and steady are the characteristics of the flight when really on the wing with some distant point in view.

The erratic and wonderfully rapid flight of the humming birds is marvelous, and the human eye can only vaguely follow their winding course.
Such strength of wing for so tiny a body seems almost incredible. Their migration southward from New England extends to South America.

The phoebe's flight is very like that of the kingbirds, and his turnblings when in pursuit of insects are almost identical, but his long flights do not denote such power, nor, I think, such rapidity.

The wonderful feats of the carrier pigeons have become famous, and the distance that they cover in a given time is hardly to be believed.
Each down beat of their wings looks as if they were flying in a denser atmosphere than air, so much power is shown.

The bats' crazy movements in the evening twilight are absurd, full of plunges, turnings, twistings, rapid flappings and tumbles, and yet they seem to know where they are going, and most certainly do.

The movements of a hawk or eagle in the upper air are graceful and magnificent. What must the sensation be of sailing about so easily in the heavens? Rising and falling, sailing and gliding, diving down with frightful speed, and yet the whole body is in perfect command.
—Boston Transcript.

Each to His Trade.

Kullack, the famous pianist, was once invited to dinner by a wealthy Berliner, who was the owner of a large boot manufactory and had been a shoemaker in his time. After the repast Kullack was requested to play something, and he consented.
Not long afterward the virtuoso invited the boot manufacturer and after dinner handed him a pair of old boots.

"What am I to do with these?"
inquired the rich man.

With a genial smile Kullack replied:

"Why, the other day you asked me after dinner to make a little music for you, and now I ask you to mend these boots for me. Each to his trade." —Munichzeitung.

The Language of Signs.

A young provincial, newly arrived in Paris, got into a dispute with a boulevardier who picked himself on his fine manners. The Parisian, wishing to carry off the thing with a high hand, pulled a glove from his pocket and threw it at the stranger.
The latter, astonished, inquired the meaning of the action. When it was explained to him that throwing a glove was equivalent to a slap in the face, the young provincial sat down, gravely drew off one of his boots and threw it at the back of his opponent.—Boston Traveller.

A DOCTOR AND DISEASE.

The plain truth, by a well-known physician, about the ## Kidneys and the Blood.

How to cure blood diseases by curing the kidneys. The action on the blood of Asparagus, and Sparagus Kidney Pills.

Every physician knows that the kidneys are natural filters.
Our kidneys filter our blood.
Blood diseases are caused by bad filtered blood.

When the kidneys are well they keep the body well by keeping the blood pure. When they are ill, they filter the blood badly and make it ill.

The sick kidneys can be made well with Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills, and this is what Dr. John Do-son says about it:

OFFICE OF
DOCTOR JOHN DOSON,
85-87 Dearborn St.

CHICAGO, July 20, 1895.

Hobb's MEDICINE CO.
Gentlemen:—Being convinced of the truth, so persistently iterated by you, that upon the kidneys depend almost entirely the purity of the blood, and that therefore all blood diseases could be cured by treating the kidneys, I decided to make a fair trial of Dr.
Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills in my practice.

Previous to this I had many cases which I had found I could only temporarily relieve with ordinary drugs, and I hoped, with the aid of the special preparation of Asparagus Officialis (from which, as you have explained to me, your pills are made), to obtain much better results.

I was not disappointed.
From the very beginning, the results I got were to me, as a physician, astounding.

In rheumatism and gout, those diseases which we are often unable to do more than relieve—sometimes by that—Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills almost invariably effected a cure.

Kidney troubles, diabetes, pain in the back, sleeplessness and all their train of disorders, were relieved in a few doses, and sooner or later cured in acemia, chlorosis, general depression, nervous headache, hysterical neuralgia, etc., the effects were perhaps even more marvelous, the patient seeming to wake up into new life, with new energy, new ambitions, new blood and new complexion.

I have now used Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills for some time, and have decided to use them constantly.
I know of no preparation which has such immediate and lasting curative powers over all diseases caused by impure or vitiated blood.

Wishing you every success, and that your remedy may become a widely known as it should, I remain, Sincerely yours,

JOHN DOSON, M. D.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills owe their curative power to the heavy and tonic properties of Asparagus on the kidneys. It is a real tonic and strengthener. It builds up the kidneys, and through them cleanses and revitalizes the blood.

A few doses will relieve. A few boxes will cure.

Dr. Hobb's Sparagus Kidney Pills are for sale at all druggists, price cents per box, or will be sent to any address postpaid, on receipt of price.

An interesting pamphlet on the subject will be mailed free to any address Hobb's Medicine Co., Chicago, or San Francisco.

A COMMOTION FOR NOTHING.

Train Stopped After This Couple Had Created a Scene.

was on the New Haven and Hartford railroad just above Meriden, and the Boston express with unusually crowded train was being down a bit, as many trains are obliged to do, to wait for the late drawbridge to be closed. A commotion is frequently taken up by those who wish to go some point in Meriden or the exact district to enable them to go off. Occasionally the train is, but more often it merely slows its speed and makes the work of driving a matter of pleasant excitement, to say the least.

man and his wife, accompanied in older man, who, the inquisitive passengers decided, must be the man's father, began to show considerable anxiety as the train neared critical point. When the brakes applied and the speed gradually decreased, their faces assumed a look of relief, though now the question arose as to whether it would let up sufficiently to allow them to get off. The lady was evidently timid, but after much strong urging on the part of her husband gathered up her belongings, and started for the door, closely followed by the father, who, however, as was learned from his conversation, did not intend to alight with them. They reached the platform, and the husband descended to lowest step, but the train was rolling along at a pretty fair pace, and his wife was panic-stricken an instant.

Now, don't you jump! Oh, we don't jump! she commanded, and implored in the same breath. "I'll be killed; I know you will!"

Meanwhile the front door stood open, and every passenger in end of the car was following little drama with undivided attention.

My dear, I don't intend to just jump!—after a pause—"come in! We can easily do it."

Indeed I won't. It will have to be done a lot slower than this. I'll jump," declared his wife, "and don't you do it my account. What should I do but get off and let me behind?"

His pathetic appeal brought an answering smile to the passengers' faces, and was followed by a remark from the father, who stood in the way, to the effect that there didn't seem to be the least danger in trying now.

With the desperation of a martyr and one picked up her skirts, carefully down the steps and lifted off without mishap by her husband. Every day smiled, believing to be the end, but they were then.

The next instant the train came dashing through the gate, pounced ferociously upon her, and she had forgotten and threw herself off for the time with a disgusted and despairing air.

Less than a minute after that came to a dead stop. The passengers looked at one another, anxiously the idea of all that excitement and anxiety could be only half smothered by the father, who, with a red face, had dropped into his seat and obscured himself behind morning paper.—New York Bits.

PLAYING BEFORE THE QUEEN

How Preparations Are Made for Performances at Windsor Castle.

Playing before the queen by "royal command" is the highest desire of every English follower of the stage who desires to reach the top-most round in the ladder of fame. When the manager of a company has been selected to appear with his players or singers for the royal pleasure, he immediately hastens to Windsor with his scenic artists and stage mechanics to make ready for the performance. The temporary stage and theater are constructed, and the performers have special rehearsals. The general members of the company are also given a thorough coaching if an opera is to be produced, as the queen is very critical.

The stage is erected in Waterloo, Canada—that being the apartment generally used for the purpose—the auditorium constructed, the royal and other seats arranged according to precise instructions and the chamber decorated with floral and other adornments. During these preparations in the castle those of the princes and princesses who happen to be there frequently look in and assist, their aid not being limited to suggestions and directions, but sometimes extending to moving with their own hands this or that piece of furniture or decoration to judge how best it should be placed. The queen also may drop in to inspect the progress, much to the trepidation of officials and workmen, for all of whom these preparations are an anxious operation, for her majesty has keen judgment and a critical and artistic eye and without any warning may order all that has been done to be undone.

At the performance the queen's chair faces the center of the stage slightly in advance of all the other seats. Right and left are chairs for the members of the royal family, and behind these are seats for the ladies and gentlemen of the household and invited guests.

A rich and beautiful programme is provided for her majesty, less elaborate, but yet dainty, artistic preparation being supplied for the rest of the audience. Then the performance proceeds. The queen always leads the applause, and the others present take their cue from her action.

Beginning generally at 10 o'clock, after the late royal dinner, these performances conclude about midnight, and then there is a rush for the good things bountifully laid out in the several supper rooms improvised for the occasion. The principals having been presented to her majesty, sup in one apartment with such of the gentlemen of the household as care to join them, the rest in other rooms according to the grades and distinctions preserved.

The special trains for the return home are to leave at 1 o'clock, even though it be Sunday morning, as it several times has been, and for a time the thoroughfares are alive with the visitors hurrying to the station in royal carriages or on foot. Many of the higher officials in the castle accompany the party, and the leave-taking is always cordial and sometimes just a trifle hilarious. In a day or two a few rings and brooches bearing the royal monogram—the much coveted "V. R."—will be forwarded to the chief performers, and so ends a function never forgotten by those who took part in it.—New York Advertiser.

A Grateful Jury.

"It is not worth while for me to occupy your time, gentlemen," said the counsel for the defendant. "The case is as plain as it can be, but my client has paid me 3 guineas to defend him, and as an honest man I ought to do something to earn the money. I can go on with a speech six hours long if I wish."

He paused a moment, took a drink of water, scanned the faces of the jurymen and proceeded.

"If necessary. But rather than bore you with a six hours' speech, gentlemen, in a case where the law and evidence are so plainly on the side of my client, the defendant, I will turn it over to you without another word and give him back his money if your verdict goes against him."

Without leaving the box the grateful jury found in favor of the defendant.—Pearson's Weekly.

A Recommendation.

Jay—Hello, Gay! Delighted to see you, my boy. I hear you have a position with my friends, Skinner & Co.

Gay—Oh, yes; I have a position as collector there.

Jay—That's first rate. Who recommended you?

Gay—Oh, nobody. I just told them that I once collected an account from you, and they instantly gave me the berth.—London Tit-Bits.

KEEP PREPARED.

The Slogan of the Business and Professional Man. The Sure Hope of the Busy Brain-Worker. The Only Protection of

THOSE WHO WORK AND TOIL.

Keep Yourself Strong, Vigorous and Well, by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy.

Nothing contributes to success like preparation. In every department of human activity this truth is constantly illustrated.

During the war of the Rebellion the issues of battles were quite often decided by the relative conditions, as by the strength of forces. The general or commanding officer who was best prepared gained the day; the surprised army was generally routed. So in our daily affairs, the professional or business man who is constantly prepared for emergencies conquers his circumstances, emerges from every difficulty triumphant, and is a success; while the men and women whom events find unprepared are overcome or injured in their severe ventures. Preparation is half of any battle in life.

So it is in regard to our health. If we keep our system in a sound condition to meet the various conditions of weather, the prevalent possibilities of contracting disease, and especially the great strain wear and fatigue of our hurrying, rushing daily life, we are always prepared against these dangers.

The first requisite is pure blood and strong nerves. They command health and exempt us from the liability of sickness.

Don't neglect it. Don't think because you are comparatively well you are safe. It is not so. The blood needs constant attention. It requires toning, needs correcting often before it gives any sign. The nerve force, nerve energies and strength are being constantly used up in business, pleasure or dissipation, and our brain and nerves require strengthening and invigorating. Keep well and strong by taking Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, for its chief merit is that it not only cures weakness and disease, but it is a sure preventive of breaking down from overwork or other causes; a sure renewer of strength, power and vigor. It is recognized everywhere as the greatest medical discovery of the age because of this grand quality. It makes you well and keeps you well.

FREDERICK P. COGGESHALL.

Mr. Frederick P. Coggeshall, the veteran bookseller of Lowell, Mass., used it and it made him well and kept him strong to work, vigorous to think and plan, full of power, energy and ambition. He says:

"My trouble was an affection of the head. I would go to bed and sleep like an infant all night but would wake with a terrible pain in the head, which utterly incapacitated me for business. Getting no relief from remedies tried, a friend recommended me to take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I took the advice of my friend and after taking it four or five days I began to experience great relief and was soon able to attend to business."

"If restless or troubled with insomnia at night I always take a dose of Nervura and get immediate relief. The invigorating qualities of this medicine are simply marvelous and after four or five doses I feel all right again. Other members of my family have used the Nervura, and I strongly recommend it to all persons of a nervous temperament, or those suffering from undue mental or physical strain."

Why waste time in trying uncertain and untried remedies, when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th street, New York City. If you take this medicine you can consider yourself under Dr. Greene's direct professional care, and you can consult him or write to him about your case freely and without charge. This is a guarantee that this remedy will cure, possessed by no other medicine in the world.

A Mourning Hat.

Friend—I see you have a broad band of crape on your hat. For whom do you wear it?

LIZA.

Apple blossom is the sweetest note of spring. But still it has the power to open a fountain of tears. It is the beautiful days under the trees, the days when the birds are singing, the days when the flowers are blooming, the days when the sun is shining, the days when the world is so full of life and joy. And yet, when the apple blossom falls, when the birds are silent, when the flowers are withered, when the sun is hidden, when the world is so full of sorrow and pain, then the tears come, then the heart is broken, then the soul is in pain.

Will be Master of a New Trade When He Comes Marching Home.

Sentenced to the Work House, Where He will Learn to Make Brushes—The Card Players Released—Other Cases.

"Guilty as charged in the affidavit," was the major's decision in the case of the city against John Jones, charged with being drunk and disorderly. The case came up for a hearing at 5 o'clock this morning, and the result was as given above.

Jones has been arrested doubtless more times than any other single person in Lima but to-day was the first time that he was ever convicted. At 5 o'clock last evening the assault and battery case, in which Jones was made defendant, came up for a hearing, and after hearing the evidence the mayor bound him over to Common Pleas Court, and then had him arraigned immediately upon a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He pleaded not guilty and some of the evidence was taken then, and the case continued until 5 o'clock this morning. The prisoner was released upon his own recognizance, and he appeared this morning, and after being found guilty by the mayor was sentenced to a fine of $50 and 10 days imprisonment in the Dayton work house, to stand committed until fine and costs are paid. His mother and father and brother and sister pleaded for leniency for the prisoner, but nevertheless he was given the full extent of the punishment provided for by the city ordinance.

Mayor Smiley left for Columbus this afternoon, going via Dayton, and took the prisoner to the works himself.

CARD PLAYERS ACQUITTED.

The case in mayor's court against John Reck, John Thomas, John Campbell, S. Verbyrke and H. Ridenour, the victims of Chief Haller's Sunday raid, came up for a hearing at 4 o'clock last evening. There was no evidence showing that the card players had played for anything of value, and consequently the case was dismissed.

WAIVED EXAMINATION.

The case in which P. P. Smith, proprietor of a tobacco store on Wayne street, was charged with selling cigarettes to school boys, was to have been tried yesterday afternoon, but the defendant waived examination and was bound over to Common Pleas Court under bond of $100.

FINED $5 AND COSTS.

A man named M. T. Crow was before the mayor yesterday for throwing stones through a window on the second floor of the Hetrick building, on east Wayne street, Saturday night. The rooms are occupied by a woman named Smith, who refused Crow admittance, and he resented by breaking four window panes.

The mayor fined him $5 and costs, and he also paid $2 for the broken glass.

THOUGHT 'T WAS THE FOURTH.

Last night Frankie Sealts, while under the influence of intoxicants, went into the yard back of her saloon opposite the P. & W. & C. depot, and fired several shots from a revolver, giving a series of blood curdling screams after each shot.

This morning she was summoned before the mayor upon a charge of disorderly conduct, to which she pleaded guilty and was fined $5.00 and costs.

THE GUN WAS HIS OWN.

Last night a boy named Lee Peterson, who was employed at the opera house, exhibited a revolver and led several to believe that the gun was one that had been stolen at the opera house. He was arrested but proved that the gun was his own and was released.

The marriage of Mr. Sherman Woerner, of the merchant tailoring firm of Woerner & Dietrich, and Miss Augusta Longmeir, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Longmeir, took place this morning at six o'clock, at St. Rose church. Everybody knows what the Everett piano is. Hundreds of them have been sold in this section of Ohio and they have all given the finest satisfaction.
